Mannen Ma ELECTRIC MONOPOLY

Local Representative Does Not Believe Judiciary Committee Has Decided On Report as Yet.

The Hartford Courant hears that the Judiciary committee is about evenly divided on the question of repealing the obnoxious law by which the electric light monopoly of this state not only thrives but under which i sells electricity at whatever price i is able to bring. This causes the Courant to say some sharp things which strikes home and which correctly rep-resents the feelings of about every person in this commonwealth with the person in this commonwealth with the exception of the electric light gentry and their minions.

The Farmer to-day asked Representative F. A. Bartlett of this city who is a member of the Judiciary committee what if any action has been taken upon this question by the committee. Mr. Bartlett said that he did not think the matter had been discussed by the committee as yet. He has attended all of the executive sessions of the committee with one exception and at none that he attended has the matter been discussed. He is quite certain that the question did not come up at the one meeting which he missed as he understands the question will be discussed only when there tion will be discussed only when there is a full attendance of committee.

Cornell's President Rebukes Princeton's Head

Ithaca, June 7.—Declarations made recently by President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton and other prominent educators that intellectual life was decaying in American universities because of the loss of the spirit of study, drew forth a strong protest from President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell University, yesterday. He said that such conditions probably did exist among the older institutions because they clung to the literary traditions among the older institutions because they clung to the literary traditions and because they attracted many stu-dents who did not wish to gain knowl-edge, but only the social prestige of a college degree. Cornell and the West-ern universities, he said, did not have such troubles.

"Famous Tissot Paintings" that have been exhibited in large cities and hundreds of thousands hav viewed them, this most wonderful ser ies of paintings given to the world by this celebrated French artist who devoted twenty years of his life in studying the locality, the people and in painting the scenes connected with the birth and life of the Saviour. Prior the birth and life of the Saviour. Frior to taking the trip to the Holy Land he was known throughout Europe as an artist of the highest rank. One day while attending church in Paris he had a vision of the Saviour with bleeding hands beckening to him and and in his heart he heard the insistent call of a higher mission and holier and nobler art. He set about to prepare himself for this wonderful journey and the result of his efforts and study has been the 240 paintings that will live for generations to come. After these paintings had been viewed by hundreds of thousands of people they were purchased and they are now in New York to be viewed for years

The Tissot Society of New York has reproduced these magnificent works of art and historical interest in the col-ors of the original paintings and they are now for sale in a portfolio con-taining 120 pictures of the old testa-ment and 120 of the new testament at the low price of the new testament at the low price of $1 per set. At the present time some of the pictures are being shown at Jackson's Book Shop, 986-988 Main street, in the north window. It will be well worth your while to stop, study and draw from the pictures some of the inspiration that inspired the artist. ## THE THEATRES

POLI'S

"Merely Mary Ann," Israel Zangwill's greatest comedy-drama, given for two solid years in New York will be the exceptional offering for this week by Poli's all-star stock company. Critics have said that "Merely Mary Ann" is the real great comedy of today on the American stage. The phenomenal success attendant upon the initial and succeeding performances of the play in New York and London bore out in every respect the opinion of the critics. In bringing "Merely Mary Ann" to this city Manager Poli has accomplished what has not been done before—namely the producing of the play by a resident stock company Miss Alice Fleming the talented and versatile leading woman will appear to advantage in the role of Mary Ann, a part with which Miss Fleming is fully conversant. Mr. John Ince, Poli's leading man will be found in excellent form as Lancelot the composer. "Merely Mary Ann" is a play of deep heart interest, revealing an absorbing story and presenting an irresistible dramatic situation. Special and elaborate scenic effects from Mr. Poli's form as Lancelot the composer. "Merely Mary Ann" is a play of deep heart interest, revealing an absorbing story and presenting an irresistible dramatic situation. Special and elaborate scenic effects from Mr. Poll's private studio will enhance the staging of the piece which will follow closely along the lines of the original production.

Considerable popular interest is centered upon this afternoon's matinee at which a handsome Parision gown now being displayed in the Main street show windows of Meigs & Co.'s store will be awarded to some lady patron. Mr. Poli will present this magnificent $75 dress to the lady patron holding a coupon bearing the corresponding number to a check to be drawn from a ticket box on the stage by an auditor. Coupons were distributed at last week's performances. Ladies attendtor. Coupons were distributed at last week's performances. Ladies attending the matinee this afternoon should bring their coupons to the theatre with them. It is essential that the holder of the coupon corresponding to the number drawn be in the auditorium at the time of the drawing. Should the gown selected be undesirable because of fit, etc., another gown of the same worth may be selected by the winner.

At the Thursday matinee handsome souvenir photographs of some member of the company will be given each lady patron.
